It seems I'm about ten years too late. I knew Kevin for just one year when we shared a barracks at Ft. Lewis. At the time, I was a new soldier carrying a lot of weight I couldn't handle, and Kevin saved my life, both literally and figuratively. When I PCS'd to Germany, we lost touch. In the internet age, I searched for him often, but with a name like Kevin Brown, it felt hopeless. Thank you, Rest in peace, my friend.

Hi John, Kevin's youngest daughter here. I'm so sorry this is how you received the news, but I am touched to know there are people out in the world that still think about my dad as I do. I know so little about his time in the military, I was only 2 when we moved to Germany..& my little brother was born there. I want to thank you for sharing & taking the time to post something. I'm not on Facebook, but if you want to connect or share anything at all, here's my email morganbrownt@gmail.com. I'd love to hear from you! Cheers!

Kevin's work ethic was rock solid, always focused on doing the job right, while supporting those who might lag behind a bit. A consummate team player who also had an incredibly warm and compassionate side for others. Bob Aylor

Peggy Jones lit a candle in honor of Kevin.

Kevin had a smile that could light up a room and I loved to hear him laugh. He was a gentleman in every sense of the word. I had the privilege of working and traveling with him on numerous occasions. When he would see me, he would always say, "Hey Mrs. Jones" and smile or chuckle. And, he was always so thoughtful. Many times our team would be on the road on Mothers Day and Kevin took it upon himself to deliver a rose to all the Moms that were away from their families. My heart aches that he is no longer with us in body, but always with us in spirit. Prayers for Gods comfort to his family. Peg

Kevin was a great all around guy. I had the distinct honor of having him as part of my crew. He was a superb worker and a good friend. He would basically take on any task assigned and give it his best. I have worked with him under all kinds of circumstances in garrison and in the field. He always gave it his best and if he made a mistake he owned up to it. He was a very honorable man. He was also fun to talk to and socialize with at functions or when we crossed paths in Steilacoom or wherever we happened to meet. I enjoyed talking about our common interests in Montana, the hunting, fishing and work on the ranches. And, we are both stockholders in WSU so had much common ground there as well. We were former fellow soldiers in the army, the in the 9th Infantry Division in particular we served at similar times. We had much in common professionally and philosophically. Kevin and the folks like him are the reason I kept working longer than one might expect. He was great to work with and just fun to be around. He will be greatly missed. Rick Nelson
