I met louie back in the late 60s. We immediately became great friends. Louie invited me over to his house to meet his family. Wow! Huge. He introduced me to his family. And then I met John. At first I felt very intimidated. He looked at me with a very intense stare, and then he smiled and everything changed. I have many fond memories of John. I will never forget the instant love you felt whenever you walked through their front door. A big part of that love was due to John. John, I will never forget you. This is not good bye. It's see you later. Love, Stan, delores and family
