It has been one month since your passing. I am so deeply saddened that we didn't have more time together. But, as your Brother for whom you searched for so many years, I am so thankful we finally found each other this past March. You have completed me in so many ways and I have learned so much. I am so sorry for the childhood you were forced to live. You deserved so much better and had so much love to give. Thank you for showing us how to love despite our daily struggles as you truly embodied a spirit of love and acceptance that will never die or be forgotten. I know that God delights in you every day now that you are with Him. I love you and look forward to being with you again one day. Your brother always, Lane##imported-begin##Lane Cruver##imported-end##

Melissa, Although I didnt see you very much over the years I do remember your laugh. I being younger than you always thought that you were pretty cool. We did get to emailing every so often when I was pregnant with Nichole. Im not sure why we stopped. I know that all of the family is going to miss you. I can't belive Nicholas is a man now. I still see him and Mart sometimes "outback" as we say here. I have thought about you everyday for the last month and say prayers for you all the time. I hope you hear them.##imported-begin##Sara Matter Hampton##imported-end##

Mel appeared in my inbox "out of the blue" one day when I was having computer problems - she solved my problem and we have exchanged email humour etc ever since. Her love for her family and willingness to help others was very obvious - she was "good people".An angel has gone to give God a helping hand.To Mel's family, friends and neighbours I would like to express my condolences and best wishes for the future.##imported-begin##Steve Dixon##imported-end##

I've held off signing your guestbook, my friend, hoping that some good words would come to me. Alas, that has not happened - I am still at a loss for words. Now Vernalisa's Recipe Board is at a loss without you. And I have lost a friend. May the Good Lord keep you, and provide comfort and solace to your family.##imported-begin##Mark Perkins##imported-end##

Melissa I will really miss your funny emails. I am so glad I met you at Regence when we were in training together, we shared a lot of information about each other on a personal level and I am still in shock about your death. You really put a footprint in my heart, all your stories about my little friend Matthew were awesome. The Spinach Dip Oh My Lord, I am gonna miss, but guess what I got the recipe! I will miss you very much, you taught me all I know about computers and I am glad to have met you. For the family my heart goes out to you. And Matthew, Mommie is in a better place. Always remember that weeping may endure for a night but joy will come in the morning. Please call Leslie if you need anything. 425-652-1525##imported-begin##Leslie Wilson##imported-end##

I met Melissa here at Regence Blue Shield. When she came out of training, she sat in the office next to mine. She was fun to talk to and joke back and forth with. I feel so fortunate to have known her. She was and will always be a lovely person. I'm still having a hard time believing that she has gone on. My deepest sympathies to your family.##imported-begin##Lynne Flink-Lemagie##imported-end##

I was very fortunate to work with Melissa since we started at Regence Blue Shield in May 2004 We started training together and enjoyed being co-workers. She was always so very helpful to me with sharing her knowledge of the computer and helping me. Melissa every day would talk about her wonderful family and children that she loved dearly. She was a wonderful and caring person wanting to share her knowledge and friendship with everyone. I was so grateful to have the opportunity to know Melissa and I share in your loss. My deepest sympathy for your whole family. Sincerely, Janet Buchanan##imported-begin##Janet Buchanan##imported-end##
