“ What a lovely man. My experience of Dr. Tsoi is the same as others have expressed. He was so gifted as a doctor and a caring human being. I can just imagine his surviving family are beautiful people too.

“ Dr. Tsoi was my mother's physician for the past 15 years and, I believe, it is because of him that she still lives a full life at 92 years of age. I'm so saddened to know that he died, having only found out today when we went for her quarterly blood draw before seeing him! He was so pleased the last few visits because she had pulled through another crisis and she was only needing one pill a day for blood pressure. Because of him, she walks 2 miles twice a day (with a walker) and is full of energy and vigor. We loved him as a man, a professional, and a friend!

“ He was the best doctor I ever knew. He was honest and down to earth and cared about people. I knew him from the late 79s onward. I was so shocked to hear of his passing. I will miss him more than I can say. My condolences to the family. He was one of a kind. A great man.

“ From when I was 5 years old and I got an infected sliver in my hand, all the way to my mid 30's, he was there. He cared for me when my insurance changed and they gave me a doctor at Community Health. They made me wait for 5 hours in the lobby just hoping that someone would have time to see me. I told my boyfriend to take me to Dr. Tsoi and I'd pay cash. His staff called my insurance and changed him to my PCP on the spot. I had a terrible fever and painful strep throat and he gently took care of me. When I was hurt, he personally pulled the rocks from my elbow and knee, did the scans and stiched me up. He was silly and kind and gentle and so very rare. They simply don't make doctors like this anymore. In my mind he could heal anything. From my broken heart in a bad relationship where he did a body check and said everything was fine until he got to my head and said it was empty. I laughed. I loved him so much. May he rest peacefully and know that everything he came to this earth to accomplish was done ten fold. He'd want everyone to know, don't eat meat except fish and chicken, everything else isn't healthy. And don't be fat. It's bad for you. God bless this man. He was an absolute treasure.
